A DUAL LIFE AND A SUICIDE.—The suicide of Bank Clerk Carl F. Riebling, of Brooklyn, N. Y., in which he stabbed himself eight times and died bled in blood in the presence of his horrified wife and four children, had a crime and dual life back of it.

Riebling, jealous of his wife, accused her of preparing to go out and meet some rival when he noticed that she was putting on her best gloves, hat, etc. But Mrs. Riebling, who had to help earn the family's living as a variety actress, and who had appeared on the stage in Brooklyn, Greenpoint and Williamsburg, resented the imputation, dramatically grasping a knife from the closet then laid it down and retorted: "You are a thief!" This was too much for the man.

Though he had lived a most honorable and industrious life ever since he came from Germany to America years ago, he had, shortly after marriage, confessed to his wife that he had been in the old country to escape from the consequences of a forger's conviction in youth. It was his first time in all those years that his wife had done so—that drove Riebling to desperation, and while his wife supposed that he might attack her in revenge, as he had done on the first occasion of her taunting him, she did not dream of his committing suicide. However after she had laid down her knife, he did rush to the closet, where he grasped a butcher-knife with a keen blade eight inches long, and thrust it into his body eight times, inflicting four wounds above the heart and four in the abdomen, any one of which would have proved fatal.

He was 32 years of age, his wife 35, and his four children respectively 12, 9, 7, and 6 years old. The $50 a month he got as bank clerk was entirely inadequate for the family's support, and his wife's resort to the variety stage piece out their income led to distrust on his part.

UNLOADING SILVER.—A story of import to the world was let out on Wall street on Saturday. The government of the Netherlands has been trying to place itself on a gold basis. At the beginning of the year it had 45,000,000 worth of silver and about an equal amount of gold. The disparity between the two metals was so great in commercial value that it decided to dispose of its silver. The new silver law of the United States offered an opportunity. An emissary was sent to the United States, and he made a deal to sell his country's silver at $1 an ounce—7 cents higher than it ruled when he started. A banking-house in Wall street undertook the sale. It started in to organize a pool for the purchase, which Russell Sage was invited to join. He declined, but the combination was finally made up and the silver was bought. There are said to be 10,000,000 ounces of silver held for speculative purposes in New York. The silver which the speculators bought for a high cost and they are consequently out on their deal at present $550,000. So far as can be learned none of the silver bought by the government of the Netherlands has been brought to this country. London sets the price for the world, and the metal is held for sale there or in the general European market.

A NOTARY'S STRANGE MURDER.—Mons. Lephine, a notary in whose custody was the will of a wealthy citizen lately deceased, at Chantelle in the Department of Allier, France, was on Thursday invited by the beautiful widow of the decedent to a late-a-late dinner at her home, and next day his body riddled with eight bullets and with the throat cut from ear to ear was found in the bushes near her home. The wealthy woman had a motive for the murder of which the police suspect her. It was in procuring and destroy her husband's will, which had not yet been put into execution, and which left her none of the large estate. Several servants have been arrested and the widow is under surveillance.

MEDICINAL

Wake Up.

If you wake up in the morning with a bitter or bad taste in your mouth, Languor, Dull Headache, Despondency, Constipation, take Simmons' Liver Regulator. It corrects the bilious stomach, sweetens the breath and cleanses the furred tongue. Children as well as adults sometimes eat something that does not digest well, producing Sour Stomach, Heartburn, Restlessness, or Sleeplessness—a good dose of Regulator will give relief. So perfectly harmless is this remedy that it can be taken by the youngest infant or the most delicate person without injury, no matter what the condition of the system may be. It can do no harm if it does no good, but its reputation for 40 years proves it never fails in doing good.
